Easy to use

All orders can be made with TPMS to allow greater visibility, accountability and productivity of your workforce.

We understand that orders come into Travis Perkins in all shapes and sizes: email, phone or over the counter which makes it hard to track who has been ordering what and when, leading to inefficiencies.

TPgo Order is a single channel through which all orders can be made with Travis Perkins Managed Services to allow greater visibility, accountability and productivity of your workforce.

The App

Find

Browse or search your catalogue of products, select from a group of branches, and see real time stock availability for the item you're looking for.

Order

Build a basket of the products you need against a job number, enter your order details and checkout.

Track

Keep an eye on what you have ordered: keeping your operatives in the loop at every stage of the product's journey.

The back office system

Track

Keep an eye on who has ordered what. See when products are due for collection or delivery enabling fewer journeys to branch and increased scheduling accuracy.

Approve

Off-catalogue products may need a quote raised and approved. Log in to view and approve the quote in one place without the need for emails and phone calls.

Manage

Manage the number of operatives working for you, the groups of branches that they can order from and their role within your organisation: allowing greater flexibility for your workforce.
